Meet Your Presenter – Randy Goruk

Randy Goruk is known for his ability to develop and refine the skills of a broad range of leaders. His customized workshops, coaching and speaking focus on elevating individual and team performance.

He has served in key leadership positions across North America with Trus Joist Corporation. Most notably as the President of Trus Joist Canada, and Sr. Vice President of North American Residential Operations, a $750 million business unit which included open web, I-joist, LVL, TimberStrand and Parallam manufacturing.

During his time of leading various multi-million-dollar business units through many challenging times of strategic growth, product development, acquisitions and a joint venture partnership, Randy became an expert in creating teams and leaders that achieve quantifiable results.

His mission is to educate and challenge leaders to become better leaders. He believes continuous learning, self-reflection, creative thinking and adaptability are keys to a leader's growth.

Randy's leadership background and extensive executive leadership experience provide a unique backdrop for the training, coaching, and speaking that is not typically seen in the construction industry.

He shares 'real experience' to get 'real results.'
